Master of Science in Strategic Studies & International Relations

Introduction

MSc in Strategic Studies & International Relations (SSIR) is an innovative and interdisciplinary programme that combines Strategic Studies and International Relations. The programme is designed by the Department of Strategic Studies at General Sir John Kotelawala Defence University. SSIR combines the knowledge from various fields such as international relations, geography, economy, international law, conflict resolution, security studies, and others related fields. The programme is intended to generate a comprehensive knowledge about various strategic issues in today's international relations. In this programme, students are provided with the opportunity to interact with resource persons from diplomatic community, military, and other relevant fields apart from interacting with the academics from KDU and other universities.

SSIR programme is specially meant for the students who are interested in jobs related to fields such as diplomatic service, government ministries, United Nations, NGO's/INGO's and other related fields. The programme is also beneficial for persons in the private sector who do or seek jobs related to Strategic Studies and International Relations.

Objectives

MSSIR envisions the development of strategic community and broadening their horizons in order to serve the National Interest of Sri Lanka. This master's programme is in line with the following objectives,

- a. Enhance students' knowledge in Strategic Studies and International Relations as an interdisciplinary field of Study.
- b. Educate on various theories, concepts, methodologies, and techniques related to Strategic Studies & International Relations in order to broaden scope of the students.

- c. Develop the skills to identify the contemporary global and regional issues and its relevance to Sri Lanka.
- d. Explain the strategic importance of Sri Lanka in regional and world politics.
- e. Describe the importance of a country foreign policy and the changes of Sri Lanka's foreign policy under different governments.
- f. Analyze the strategic issues in contemporary international relations.
- g. Assess the strategic challenges faced by Sri Lanka and identify possible diplomatic initiatives to positively address those challenges.
- h. Improve students' attitude towards maintaining national pride and make him/her defend national interest within Sri Lanka and abroad.
- i. Appraise an attitudinal change on students to be more disciplined and encourage them to contribute to national development discourse.

Intended Learning Outcomes

After the successful completion of the Master's Degree, participants will,

- a. have an in-depth knowledge in contemporary global and regional security and strategic settings and its relevance to Sri Lanka.
